Mark 10:46–52

Bartimaeus

Bartimaeus was sad. He was blind and no one took care of him. He had to sit by the road and beg people for money.

One day, he heard that Jesus was walking by. "Jesus! Help me!" he shouted.

"Be quiet!" said someone in the crowd. "Leave Jesus alone."

Bartimaeus shouted even louder. "Jesus! Help me!"

Jesus heard him and said, "Come here."

Bartimaeus ran to Jesus.

"How can I help you?" Jesus asked him.

"Teacher, let me see again."

Jesus smiled. "You trust that I can heal you? That's amazing faith. Now you can see again."

Bartimaeus blinked once. Twice. Suddenly he could see Jesus standing right in front of him.

"Thank you!" he shouted, giving Jesus a big hug. "Now I will follow you with the rest of your friends!"

REMEMBER THIS

BEGGING
Bartimaeus had to beg for money to live because no one in his community would care for him.

Did You Know?

Kids who are blind can learn to read using a special alphabet called Braille. Braille letters are groups of raised bumps on paper. You can feel those bumps with your fingers and read the words!

TRY IT AT HOME!

Next time you go to the eye doctor, ask them to tell you all about how people see, and how they help people who are visually impaired.
