Jesus told lots of parables. These were stories that told people what God and God's Kingdom are like.

One story went like this: "God's rule in the world is like a farmer who went out to sow good wheat seeds in the field."

"But later, an enemy came and sowed icky weed seeds in the same field."

A person listening to Jesus' story blurted out: "That wasn't very nice!"

Jesus said, "No it wasn't. But keep listening to the parable."

He continued: "The farmer's helpers noticed that weeds had popped up in the field along with the good wheat. They asked what they should do."

"The farmer answered, 'Just let them grow up together, the weeds and the wheat. We'll separate them at harvest time.'"

It was a strange story, but many parables were! What do you think it means?

Ask an adult or teen to tell you a favorite story of theirs. It has to be something when they learned about themselves. Then, you tell them a story! You can write it down beforehand, too.

With an adult helper, bake some bread from scratch. You'll need flour, eggs, water, starch, butter, and yeast to let the bread rise. There are plenty of recipes online!
